Long Looked for Strike Occurs in the Great Car Shope.

TWO THOUSAND MEN ARE OUT

American Railway Union Back of Strike-Claim it Was Either a Strike or a Lock

CHICAGO, May 11.-Two thousand employes of the Pullman Palace Car company quit work today. Those who went out asserted that the entire force of 4,300 people would be on a strike before night. The trouble has been brewing for some time, the men demanding the restoration of a 331% per cent cut in wages made last fall. The company's officials refused the demand and asserted that they were running the plant at a loss for the purpose of giving the men employment.

Vice President Wicks and other officers of the company were at the works investigating claims made by employes, and they were entirely unprepared for the sudden seriousness which the situation had as-sumed. The men marched out quietly in groups and for a time the officers though groups and for a time the officers thought that the strike was confined to the disaf-fected few who had decided to move with-out waiting for the decision of their su-periors. What had suddenly precipitated the strike was not known, as the men and company officers at Pullman were not known to have had any further conference, and matters were supposed to be in the condi-tion in which they were left at the close of the conference Wednesday, when it was thought that the men had decided not to

The strike, it was ascertained this after noon, is the result of a meeting of the mediation committee of the board of the American Railway union, which was in session until 4 o'clock this morning at Ken-sington. The committee advised the local unions to take a vote on the subject of striking, and afterwards heard that the decision had reached the officers of the com pany, and that the latter had decided shut down the works at noon today. Rather than be laid off, the local unions decided to go on a strike, and word was passed round o this effect as soon as the men assembled at the shops. It was claimed that three of the conference committee, who worked in the iron shops, were laid off for being on the committee, and this fact also had a great effect on the men.

Great Northern Strikers Not All Getting Their Positions Back.

MINNEAPOLIS, May 11 .- James Hogan, the Montana American Railway union leader who ordered the recent Great Northern strike, is on his way to St. Paul at the head of a committee to see President Hill to see about the reinstatement of all the men. He told a correspondent at Devil's Lake that the men were unanimous in their demand that all strikers be reinstated, regardless of their participation in the strike. There are some fifty strikers scattered along the line, who, in consequence of their interference during the strike, the company declines to reinstate until the settlement of their cases in court.

ST. PAUL, May 11.—Deputy Marshals Warren and Shortall arrived in town today from Wilmar, having in custody seven more of the Great Northern strikers, arrested on warrants charging them with interfering with the United States mails. The men are William Boyd, James Carruthers, C. S. Hutchins, A. T. Bogard, William McNess, C. Kerkland and John Scruble. The men were examined before Commissioner Spencer. Mr. Spencer found that there was plenty of authority to hold them and they gave ball in the sum of $300 each, Thomas Manning being Verdict Against Lotta.

SAN FRANCISCO, May II.—A jury in Judge Sanderson's court this afternoon gave John W. Turner a $635 verdiet against Carlotta Crabtree (Lotta) for legal services rendered in 1887. Since then Lotta has left the state, and so the statute of limitations did not bar the claim. Turner also sued for interest since 1887, but the jury did not allow that.

this testimony of the worth and work of our Ancient Order of America. No set of men and no society have been more generous in their contributions and in their sacrifices for the cause of Ireland than our men and our society. Let it be our duty and our pride to maintain this grand record and to stand our test to the force real. ord and to stand ever in the front rank of those battling for Ireland's freedom. Doing this we will live in the abiding faith that it will be our privilege to see the day when the battle of centuries will be won, Ireland's nationality vindicated and Emmet's epitaph written,

OLD GLORY OVER CATHOLIC SCHOOLS. It has been my pride and honor to partici-pate on at least 100 occasions in different sections of the great republic, in which our brethren illustrated in a practical way their love and devotion to the free institutions of our common country, and confounded our enemies by raising the emblem of our country's freedom, the glorious stars and stripes, over the Catholic schools in their several localities. In these modern times when the descendants of the revolutionary tories are organizing all over the land for the avowed purpose of ostracizing and destroying us in business, public and social life, our protests cannot be too strong and our vindication of the truth of history too pointed. It is duty to curselves, to our children and to our children's children to stand up like manly men and combat this modern know-noth-ingism which is spreading over the land in the guise of an organization called the A In my judgment, brethren, it is our duty to fight this unamerican order and its pro fessed principles with every weapon which American freedom should fight battle of right and justice as against the accursed spirit of bigotry and intolerance, which should find no place under free institutions, but which unfortunately runs riot through our country at the present time. True men love the people who stand up in a manly way and assert their God-given rights, but have no consideration for those who slink, and in a cowardly way fail to size up the doctrine of citizenship, which is our proudest boast, thereby proving themselves as unworthy to enjoy the American free-man's heritage of equal and exact justice and equality with all men before the law.

The history of the country proves the facthat the Irishman and the Catholic were the foremost and the bravest in the great struggle for the gaining of liberty for this land, and since that happy time the same people fought the bravest, shed their blood most willingly, and made the greatest sacrifices to perpetuate the same free institutions Let us be true to the memories of our fathers; let us, like them, assert our man-hood and our character, and standing or our rights as true American freemen we can defy the powers of hell and darkness that are now combined under names which belie their true character and tend to belittle American manhood. In order that the growing generation of our people may be taught their duties as well as their rights to our government, the freest and best that God ever gave to man, in order that we may continually have an object lesson before the the eyes and in the minds of our little children, and in order to renew our faith and allegiance and to give public testimony of our devotion to our flag and to our country, I would respectfully recommend that in every parish in which a-Catholic school is located or established it would be the imperative duty of the Ancient Order of Hibernian division located in the same community to present an American flag to the school, thereby emulating the good example of so many of our brethren and again illus-trating to the world the fact that no citizen loves the stars and stripes or the free institutions of our country better than the exiled Irishman or his descendants, who worship God according to the tenets of the immortal and imperishable Church of Rome. DUTIES OF OFFICERS. As the years pass by and from the ex-perience thereby gained we can more and more appreciate the necessity of having in-telligent, faithful, live men in official positions in the various departments and sub divisions of our organization. In select-ing officers in the national, state, county or division organizations we should look for honesty coupled with intelligence and fair ability, and above all seek men whose hearts are in the cause. Unfortunately hearts are in the cause. Unfortunately the growth of our order has been retarded by the neglect or indifference of many offi-cers. In point of fact, we might well characterize it as criminal carelessness in many instances I merely do an honest and patriotic duty when I record here my testimony to the faithful and devoted services of my brother national officers and of my faithful and loyal colleagues, the honorable and distinguish brothers of the national directory. The have one and all labored with me honestly and unceasingly for the promotion of the good of the order.

CONCLUDING REMARKS. We will miss from our counsels today and for all time many of our dear brothers, whose wise advice and counsel so much as-sisted us in the past. They have finished their work in this life and their good deeds of charity, benevolence and patriotism follow after them. It would be impossible for me to particularize, because every state, terri-tory or province has lost many bright and noble Hibernians within the last two years who have fought the good fight, kept the faith and have now passed over to the other side of the great river to rest from life's weary labors.

We will miss the sunshine of their countenances, but will always cherish the memory of their honest, sterling devotion to their church, their country and their families, not forgetting their love for our good old order and its sublime principles of fraternity.

And now, fellow delegates, with a full sense of the responsibilities resting upon us to legislate for the best interests of the ancient and honorable society, the oldest, the strongest and the grandest of our race and creed in the world, we lay aside all personal feelings and subordinate all local and selfish interests, and with a firm reliance on the guidance of Divine Providence, whose aid we invoke, we enter upon the work of this convention and humbly pray that our labors be blessed by Almighty God to the end that they may honor Him, conserve the in-terests of our holy mother church, and promote and advance the interests of our beloved organization, so that the Ancient Order of Hibernians may be known and honored all over the world, and everywhere beside the standard of the cross may be found the banner of Friendship, Unity and True Christian Charity.

END OF THE CONVENTION. Delegates Close Their Labors and Prepare to Return to Their Homes. The most of the work of the sixth biennial convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians was completed and night and early this morning the delegates began departing for their homes. It has been the most successful and satisfactory convention the Hibernians have ever held and several serious problems, which arose through the incomplete-neas of the constitution and by-laws, have been corrected.

While the delegges spent a good deal of time in accepting the hospitable courtesies tendered them by the local Hibernians, they still found ample appertunity for work and will go home feeling that the convention has been a most profitable and pleasant one. Yesterday forenoon was spent in consider-Yesterday forenced was spent in consider-ation of the national delegate's report and the report of the other national officers. In the afternoon the logic committee furnished a number of carriages and the wives and daughters of the selegates were driven over the city, through the public parks and to other places of interest here and in South Omaha. Omaha.

The delegates began their work in earnest in the afternoon, and last night they felt as if the most serious obstacle to the suc cess of their order had been removed. The objects of the order were publicly declared to be all right by Bishop Scannell, who presides over this diocese, in a most elo-quent speech in the convention hall. For years the national officers have been endeav oring to overcome the objections of the priests to Catholics belonging to the order. It is set forth in the Hibernian constitution that a member must belong to the church. Since the church strictly forbids that its members join any secret society, the priests tion to the order. It is true that Archbishop Foley declared that there could be no con-flict between the church and this benevolent order, but he stood alone in his opinion When the convention met in this city the clergy and bishops were invited to be present and watch the entire proceedings. They ent and water the entire proceedings, critically noted every proceeding of the convention, and yesterday afternoon Bishop Scannell made a speech before the members cordially endorsing the objects of the Hibernian order, and said that if he could find a lodge which would accept him as a member he would join at once. He made a most encouraging speech and urged the Hiber-lans to continue in their charitable work, to relieve the sick and suffering, care for the widows and educate the orphans, and lend their assistance to all real charitable insti-tutions, whether of the Catholic faith or not. His remarks filled the delegates with new hope, and they will work for the good of their order and cause with renewed energy. National Delegate Wilhere responded to the bishop's address in feeling terms, and his remarks were endorsed by the visiting riests.

The convention unanimously endorsed the movement to endow a chair in the Catholic university at Washington for the purpose of teaching the Gaelic language. The consummation of his dearest hopes nearly over-came Father Shahan of the university, who had worked so long and faithfully to ac-complish this end. He thanked the dele-gates in a heartfelt manner for their assistance. The amount of the endowment is $50,000, and will be made up by the Catholic libernians and others by special contribu-

Echoes of the Convention.

During the evening the delegates worked on a new ritual for the Order of Hiberni ans. Resolutions were adopted thanking the Poor Claire Sisters for the pre-sentation of the handsome badges to the delegates. The next place for the Hibernian convention will be Detroit, which was selected after a good natured and spirited contest by the representatives of several other cities which wanted the honor of entertaining the convention delegates. The incoming officers were instructed by a resolution to make a per capita assessment against members of the various Hibernian divisions in this country and raise the $50,000 necessary to endow the Gaelic chair in the Washington university. A committee was appointed to take steps assist in the consolidation of the two Hibernian orders which are now in exist-ence. The officers and directory of this branch of the order were instructed to meet officers and directory of the New York order and attempt to reach some sort of an agreement through which the orders may be merged into one. The two orders of Hibernians was the result of a split in the ranks of the original order several years ago. Then the meetings were held only in New York City and the national delegate had to be selected from New York. This did not please many of the members and they withdrew. Since then attempts have been made to reconcile both sides, and it was thought that this would be done at this session, but definite results can hardly be

NEW ORLEANS, May 11.—The sugar convention met at noon at the Academy of Music, which was crowded with repre sentatives of the sugar interests at that hour. The gathering was a thoroughly representative one. The convention was called to order by President Murphy of the Sugar exchange, actng for the plant-ers. Mr. McCali, who believes the defeat of ers, Mr. McCali, who believes the defeat of the Wilson bill would be death to the sugar interests, was made chairman. The conservative element, it would seem, therefore will control the convention. Ex-Governor Warmouth is taking a leading part in the proceedings. The convention had organized at 1 o'clock and immediately proceeded to the transaction of business. Resolutions were adopted declaring the sugar schedule of the senate finance committee fixing the duty on raw sugar at 40 per cent ad valorem inadequate protection to the home producer, and that it is impossible for the cane growers and sugar manufacturers of Louisiana to pay for the actual cost of production at that rate of duty; that the sugar tariff was instituted from the beginning of the government and was continued until 1890, when the McKimley bounty went into operation, the bounty being supposed to take the place of the duty then prevailing, although the bounty litself was a reduction of the rate of the tariff law; that under the influence of that bounty the sugar industry of Louisiana has been increased in three years from 180,000 to 320,000 tons; that if the present law be abrogated and the duty adopted the sugar industry will be practically destroyed. They also protested against the continuance of Hawaiian reciprocity, and advised the legislature in electing United States senators that only men who can be relied upon at all times to stand for sugar and rice be selected. Adjourned sine de. the Wilson bill would be death to the sugar

GOLD RUSHES NOW ON IN AUSTRALIA

One Field Two Hundred Miles Across the Desert-Water Carried on Camelback-Lots of Rich Finds but More Destitution.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11 .- The most important news received from Australia by the steamer Alameda deals with the rush to the new mining camps of Coolgarda in Western Australia and of Wyalong in New South Wales.

Many districts of New South Wales have been drained of labor by the wild rush to the Wyalong gold fields. This new district is in the northern end of Gipps county. The gold lies in reefs. Early in March there were 3,000 miners on the ground and the number has since been swelled by several hundred daily. On March 30 it had reached 8,000. The road from the nearest settlement, thirty miles distant, is in a fearful condition, and the water supply is bad. The camp swarms with men who have had no experience in mining and who fall ready victims to sharpers. Others who have no means and who expected to get work have crowed in. They are practically destitute and the government will have to help them out.

Whether the mines will fulfill the first promise, time alone can tell. The field will probably consist of a main backbone of volcanic formation of uncertain length. trending northwest by north and crossed by numerous feeders, principally of quartzite and fronstone running northeast by southwest, but what portions of the main reef and of the feeders besides those already found carry payable gold is a question that remains to be discovered, and only strenuous, persistent labor can solve.

April 10 a new field twelve miles away was discovered, rich ore being found in porous rock. Three-quarters of the pros-pectors at Wyalong rushed to the new camp in a day, but most of them soon re-turned. Fresh prospecting at Wyslong de-veloped that gold was found from two to six feet deep and could be worked with placer apparatus. This brought a fresh crowd of niners and explorers.

The Coolgarda fields in Western Australia are separated from settlements by over 200 miles of desert, destitute of water. Much freight and water is carried in camel trains, as horses cannot stand the journey. Two miners who left Parramatta mine some months ago for the new camp have just returned. They showed twenty-four pounds of solid gold, thirteen pieces in all, the nuggets varying from thirty-seven ounces to eighteen ounces, which were got out of the earth at Kurnalip not more than a foot down. All the gold was picked up in four or five days, and their claim became known as the "Potato Patch." At the white Feather, the party have some valuable property. Both strongly advise people not to go there without at least £100 in their pockets. Fully 90 per cent of the people on the field are not doing anything and would be glad to get away. They left Kur-nalpi three weeks back and met about 1,000 people on the road to the fields. The great drawback is water, which is as salt as brine On April 9 it is estimated that from 15,00 to 20,000 men were on the field or on the road to it. A few days later a good flow of artesian water was struck in a government well and a big nugget weighing eighty-two ounces was picked up.
